CALL FOR SUBMISSION OF ARTICLES

Special supplement of the Journal of the Colombian Academy of Exact, Physical and Natural Sciences

With the purpose of joining the celebration of the International Year of Light and Light-based Technologies, IYL 2015, convened by the United Nations, which has already rallied the support of more than 100 institutions in about 85 countries, the Journal of the Colombian Academy of Exact, Physical and Natural Sciences calls for the submission of manuscripts that will be published in a special issue of its journal programed to appear online in November 2015.

IYL's objective is to highlight the mastery of light-based technologies attained by humanity in the present stage of civilization, an aim that fully agrees with the Academy's mission. In this framework, the IYL declaration also pays tribute to personalities who have greatly contributed to such achievements, among whom it is worth mentioning Abu Hasan Ibn Al Haytam (Alhazen) in the 10th century, Augustin–Jean Fresnel and James Clerk Maxwell in the 19th century, Albert Einstein in the 20th century and Charles Kao in the 21st.

Manuscripts can be submitted in the modality of original research articles, topic reviews or historical or socioeconomic essays. They can refer to specific topics or to wider studies of light phenomena in the fields of physics, chemistry, biology, mathematics and earth sciences, including any of their specialties or transversalities.

The presentation should adhere to the editorial policies and the procedures of the Academy's journal available at www.raccefyn.co. It is important to mention that the Academy's journal is indexed, and all manuscripts are peer-reviewed by experts in each field. The submission of manuscripts should be completed online according to the procedure established in the instructions for authors available at www.raccefyn.co.

Manuscripts will be received as of March 2 and until July 3, 2015. For more information: REVISTA ACCEFYN revista@accefyn.org.co
